Summer weather made a brief return in late October. Daytime temperatures in mid 80s. Fantastic! Nights and mornings have been cool with the large daily temperature changes of desert climes. Taking advantage of the weather, Lynn and Rosa have been working on plantings in the parking area and it is looking great. More bougainvilleas, peach, avocado and mango trees have been planted. More changes are planned for the parking area so stay tuned.

The chiltepin harvest is in full swing. The fiery hot peppers, no larger than a pea, are for sale in the stores and by sellers door to door. We spent a day at a friend's ranch and picked a half liter or so of the berries. The week before, a reporter for the Sierra Vista Herald came down and did a story on the chiles. The article can be found here, on our web site. If you are interested in tasting these little gems, come on down. Some ethnic markets in the US may have them marked as "chile tepin."

If you have visited

Banámichi you may have seen the rustic furniture made by Heriberto "Eddy" Leon. Eddy gathers dead and downed mesquite, palo chino and pecan wood from the area. Eddy has a unique eye for the shape of the logs and skillfully uses his chainsaw to slice the trees that have been twisted by the desert winds into boards that work with the forms that nature has sculpted.

Eddy began hand crafting his unique furniture about five years ago, perfecting his designs of tables, benches, mirrors and chairs. The hotel is filled with his furniture. Two massive tables seating 16 fill the hotel's spacious dining room. Rooms and corridors are decorated with bedside tables, end tables, larger tables, mirrors, shelves and benches, all custom made and designed for Hotel Los Arcos.

Eddy's unique designs are available for sale at the hotel or at his workshop. He can also custom make furniture to order.

So come on down. We promise there will be lots of warm, friendly people, good food and glorious fall weather. Dream, Discover and Explore
